Overall it was a good experience. Sapa and it's views were incredible. The only downside was that on our day of biking when it came to heading down the hill back to Sapa we took a route which only a very good level mountain biker could tackle safely. Huge rocks and slippy. We ended up carrying the bikes down for our own safety. The day of walking was good. Beautiful scenery and our guide was friendly and knowledgeable.

One of the most amazing places I've biked.

We did a day bike tour that was one of the most beautiful rides I've ever done. Sorry but no words I could share would do justice to the experience of this day.
